Most international commercial agreements are drafted in English, irrespective of the nationality of the contracting parties.

Drafting contracts in English is ideal for lawyers working in English as a foreign language who need to draft, explain or interpret contract clauses written in English.

During the course delegates will look at a wide variety of commercial agreements through to practical drafting sessions.

The course is suitable for those with up to an advanced level of English but who have no lower than an intermediate level.

This course will help delegated to draft confidently and effectively in English, developing skills in drafting clearly, simply and accurately, whatever the governing law.

The course will include an abundance of practical exercises throughout including restructuring and redrafting poorly drafted clauses.

If you advise on, or deal with international commercial agreements, you cannot afford to miss this course.

The aim of the course is to address the following key points:

- Appreciate the signs of a well drafted document.
- Understand the language of drafting.
- Understand Legal formalities for a binding contract and know when contracts are formed.
- Get to grips with Structure and formation of a commercial contract.
- Explore commercial and legal issues affecting contract drafting.
- Examine the importance of Boilerplate clauses.
- Distinguish between the different types of pre-contractual documentation: Non- disclosure agreements, Heads of terms.
- Get up to date with cross border contracts: Joint Ventures, Acquisitions, Distribution and Agency agreements.
- Learn how to do troubleshooting in drafting.
- Analyse and case studies.

Our strategy is based on personalised learning, where we aim to develop the competence and confidence of every delegate by actively engaging them in the course. Using case studies and practical examples, the delegates will be provided with a thorough grounding in this field and will gain the confidence needed to understand authentic legal English vocabulary in a legal context.
